The Christmas Story

Illustrated by Hal Foster

On the fragrant hay lay Mary gazing lovingly on her baby, while the shepherds stood in awe-struck silence in the doorway.

The very air seemed charged with gladness as if, far away, the angels were rejoicing and the music of their voices came faintly down to earth.

Now had every prophecy come to pass and the gentle Savior been born.

We all believe the teachings of this Prince of Peace. Some day we will follow them and know Peace at last.

Payment of Bonus Claims Defended By State Agency

Answer Charges Of Delay in Handling Some Requests.

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, Dec. 11 -A Stark county bonus representative attacked and the state bonus commission defended today the method of obtaining information on which to base payments to veterans

S A Wheeler of Canton said requests for information not mentioned on original Ohio veterans bonus application forms have slowed payments to next-of-kin of deceased veterans to a dribble Hundreds of applications from living veterans in Stark county alone are being placed in the irregular file Wheeler said

Wheeler said a chief difficulty is a ruling that veterans who were under 22 years of age when they entered service must furnish proof their parents were Ohio residents for one year prior to that date—even though the questionnaire asks only for the veteran's residence for that period

"No Apologies" Says Kirby

Courtney E Kirby, assistant director of Ohio's World War II bonus, said the original questionnaire was designed to fit the mass of cases.

"If we had worked out a form that would ask the information necessary in all cases," Kirby said, "we would have an amazingly complex form that would slow processing

"We have the most simple, easily understood form of any state paying bonuses; we have paid out bonuses at a rate that tops any other state.

"We are interested in doing the greatest good for the greatest number. We think we have done a good job We have no apologies. We have no hesitancy in particular cases in going back for additional information to substantiate the claim."

Wheeler complained in an interview of a ruling he said means a former serviceman who was a minor at the time of entry into service is not eligible for bonus payment if his parents had their legal residence outside the state. This is true, Wheeler said, even if the veteran had resided in Ohio for the stipulated time.

Points To Example

He cited the case of a Xenia orphan who was refused a claim although he had live most of his life in an institution there and had as his legal guardian the superintendent of the institution

Kirby said

"In the first place, we have yet to officially reject that first application for a bonus

"We have proposed to disallow many where the information available to us indicated the applicant had failed to meet the legal needs But any such appli-

Marion Co. Official Echoes Stand Of Canton Man.

Complaints of slow handling of some state veterans' bonus applications raised by a Stark county bonus representative were echoed here today by John R Schwartz, Marion county bonus representative

Mr Schwartz, like S A Wheeler in Canton, declared that many Marion county applications had been held up, especially those of parents or next of kin of deceased veterans

Repeated requests by state bonus headquarters for additional information regarding claims, rather than asking for all the needed data at one time, was blamed by Mr Schwartz for many of the delays

Case in Point

An outstanding example of the point in question was that of a deceased Marion county Army veteran whose father as next of kin applied for his son's bonus The Army veteran had lived to be discharged from the Army but had died before the bonus organization came into being

The state bonus headquarters in Columbus required the father as next of kin to send the deceased veteran's birth certificate, original Army discharge, death certificate, and the deceased veteran's deceased mother's death certificate in order to prove the father's claim as next of kin for his son's bonus

The state bonus headquarters then sent a lengthy questionnaire to the deceased vet's stepmother, whom his father had married since the vet's own mother's death, and who had no knowledge of or connection with the claim. All these requirements were complied with when the bonus headquarters made their final request which really stumped bonus workers here. The veteran's original Army discharge was sent to state bonus headquarters with other papers demanded as proof of claim. This was stamped with the deceased vet's case claim number by bonus workers at state headquarters and returned to the deceased vet's father

State bonus headquarters then wrote the deceased vet's bewildered father telling him he had forwarded the front of the original Army discharge, they would now like him to forward the back side of the discharge so they could inspect and stamp it

The baffled father then appealed to local bonus officials to try to explain to state bonus workers the obvious fact that they had already received both sides of the discharge, it being a single sheet of paper, and had stamped both front and back of the discharge At last report the deceased vet's father had yet to receive his son's veteran's bonus payment, Mr Schwartz said

Endless Delays

Marion Navy veterans and veterans of wartime Army Air Forces international operations over oceans, commuting in and out of the country on operational missions over both the Atlantic, and Pacific Oceans, into Canada, Mexico and the islands of the Caribbean have had endless delay and difficulty because of state bonus headquarter's requirements of proof of each and every time they entered the country, at what port on what craft, where they came from, and where they went when they left the Continental U S on their next departure. Most veterans, especially those from the Navy have no such records and can get none to cover their many voyages The result, endless delay in processing and receiving veteran's bonus payments

Another cause for placement of a questionnaire in the irregular file is inclusion of a church baptismal record when no birth certificate is available, Mr Schwartz stated

PROBERS HEAR MAN NAMED BY CHAMBERS

Former Bureau of Standards Employe Questioned in Special Session.

By JAMES L. KILGALLEN
International News Correspondent

NEW YORK, Dec. 11—William Ward Pigman of Appleton, Wis., a former employe of the U. S. bureau of standards, went before New York's spy-probing federal grand jury today.

The jury reconvened at 10 a. m. in a special Saturday session to hear Pigman, a member of the institute of paper chemistry since 1946.

He also is wanted as a witness by the house un-American activities committee in Washington.

Pigman has been accused by Whittaker Chambers, former Communist courier, of feeding him secret documents for Russian spies. Pigman has denied the charges.

Another man named by Chambers in his story of how he acquired secret government papers also was called as a witness today.

He is Henry Julian Wadleigh, former state department employee, named as a source of the documents. Wadleigh refused to testify Thursday before the house committee in Washington on grounds of possible self-incrimination.

Chambers, Hiss Called

Also called before the grand jury were Chambers, who resigned yesterday as a senior editor of Time Magazine; and Alger Hiss, former state department official and present head of the Carnegie Endowment for International Peace linked by Chambers to a pre-war Communist "apparatus" in Washington.

Chambers accuses Hiss of being the key man in the theft of the documents, but Hiss has denied emphatically the charges.

Hiss left the grand jury chambers at 11:10 a. m. He told newsmen he was "through for the day" and was going home. He declined to make any other comment

The action in calling a Saturday session of the grand jury was considered indicative of the desire of justice department officials to wind up the current phase of the investigation before the term of the jury expires next Wednesday.

Climax Believed Near

The investigation appears to be nearing its climax with indications pointing to at least one or possibly more indictments.

Federal district attorneys are laying the groundwork for continuation of the probe by a new special grand jury which will be sworn in Thursday.

The house un-American activities committee has predicted that the grand jury will indict Chambers for perjury on the ground that he allegedly first denied having evidence of espionage and then turned up the microfilms of secret papers on his Maryland farm.

Spy Probe Secret Papers To Be Published

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Dec. 11—Congressional investigators prepared today to release a dozen of the secret papers which, they claim, prove a red spy ring operated in the state department a decade ago.

Members of the house un-American activities committee say while the documents may appear innocent enough now, they mention military and diplomatic secrets which once would have been invaluable to Russia

And they say the documents—scheduled for release tonight—would have enabled the Soviets to crack the codes in which American diplomatic messages were sent

The 10-year old papers came from former Communist agent Whittaker Chambers. He produced one out of a pumpkin shell hiding place on his nearby Maryland farm. The others he has offered in defense against a libel suit.

Chambers has testified under oath that he got some papers for relay to Moscow from Alger Hiss and Henry Julian Wadleigh, former state department officials.

He has testified, too, that Mrs. Hiss copied some of the originals on a typewriter.

The committee's acting chairman, Rep. Mundt (R-SD), told reporters investigators have unearthed some "very good clues" about a typewriter. He said they have a good chance of locating some letters which would show whether they came from the same machine that produced copies of state department papers.

The committee set its next meeting for Monday noon.

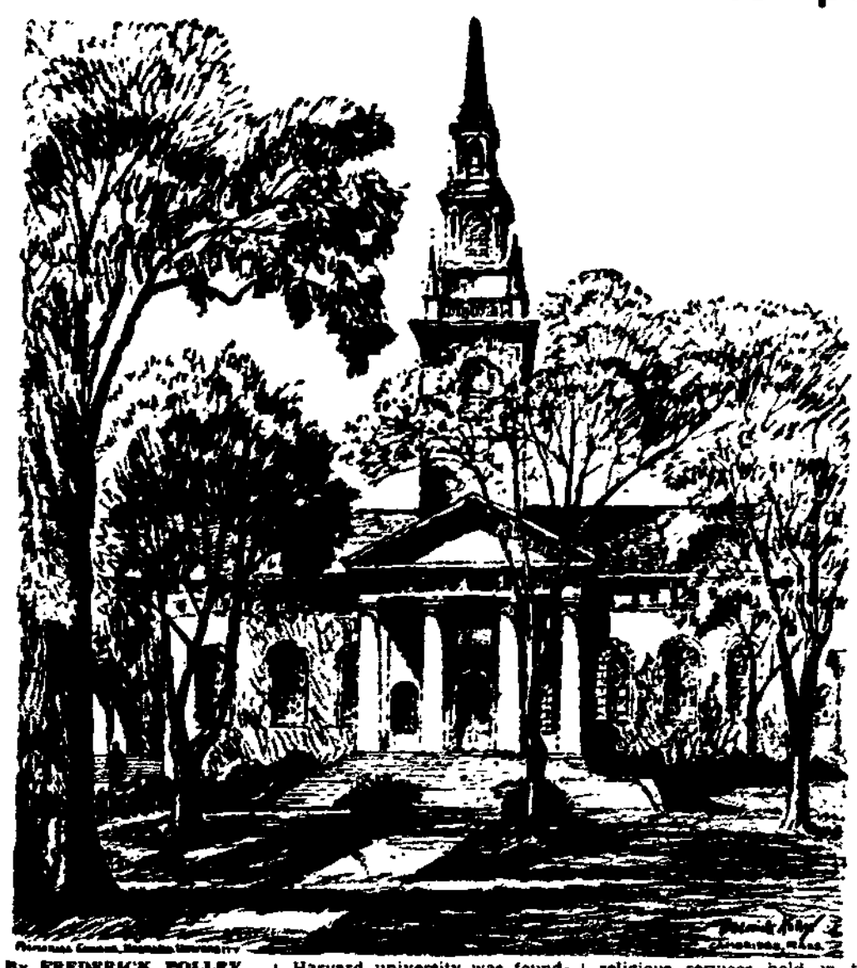
Memorial Church on Harvard Campus



By FREDERICK POLLEY

COLLECTING pictures or drawings of old buildings is quite a hobby. One of the interesting phases of this hobby is classifying the architectural styles. There are not so many distinct styles, but the derivatives often have me puzzled. Nowadays any church building with a spire is called "Christopher Wren" when, in fact, the style may be Georgian, Adam, or American.

In Cambridge, Mass., across the Charles river from Boston, may be found many fine examples of early colonial architecture. Cambridge was settled in 1630. Six years later Harvard university was founded. The Longfellow house, Christ Church and others date from 1759.

On the Harvard University Campus I discovered this exquisite little chapel, the Memorial church. It honors the Harvard men who saw service in World War I. The service flag contains 11,398 names from the first World war, and the building was dedicated on Armistice day, 1932.

The architectural style is called "modified colonial". The spire rises 197 feet to the weather vane. It contains a bell that announces the hours of college classes as well as the religious services held in the chapel. During the college year the services are conducted by a member of the board of preachers. This board is composed of a group of prominent ministers, one of whom comes to the campus each two weeks as resident preacher.

The main entrance to the chapel auditorium is on the west facing Thayer hall. The auditorium seats 1,200 persons. On the tablet over the doorway, that may be seen under the classic portico, is inscribed these words: "In grateful memory of the Harvard men who died in the World War we have built this church."

Church Briefs

"God the Preserver of Man" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon which will be read in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, Sunday. It will have for the Golden Text: "I the Lord thy God will hold thy right hand, saying unto thee, Fear not' I will help thee."—(Isaiah 41:13).

At Salem Evangelical and Reformed church tomorrow morning the guest speaker again will be Dr. Charles Prugh of Heidelberg college at Tiffin. He will present a message in keeping with the Christmas season.

A girls' quartet from Bluffton college will conduct a service of First Church of the Brethren tomorrow night, Rev. Ellis Guthrie, pastor, announced. Tuesday night, the last of the marriage lecture sessions will be held at the church. Two classes will meet, one at 7 o'clock for the married couples' group, and the other at 8:15 for the single people's group, Rev. Guthrie stated.

Last of a series of two sermons on "Signs of the End Time" will be given tomorrow night at the Maranatha Bible church by the pastor, Rev. Earl L. Holliday. The message will deal with "the fulfillment of prophecy in notifying the church of Christ's coming soon, for his church, economic, moral, religious and geographical aspects of the subject, and fulfilled prophetic signs."

Special services at First Church of God on North State street will continue next week, with Rev. Harry M. Kesling of Ashland, Ky., as the evangelist, it was announced. The series of services will continue each night through Sunday, Dec. 19, Rev. Fred Morgan, pastor, said.

Mission band and Little Heralds meetings at Calvary Evangelical United Brethren church will be tomorrow during the morning worship hour in downstairs rooms. Other organizations of the church meeting next week include Men's and Women's class Monday night, Emma Berger class, potluck supper, Thursday at 6:30 p. m., and Christian Service Guild, Thursday, 8 p. m. The following Sunday night, a Christmas play will be given.

Christmas meeting of the Missionary circle of the Women's Guild, First Evangelical and Reformed church, will be Wednesday night at the church. The Alpha class will have a potluck supper at the church at 6:30 p. m. Wednesday. Other organizations of the church meeting next week include the Ladies' Bible class Tuesday afternoon, Mrs. Harry Augenstein, hostess, board of Christian education, Tuesday night, and the Girls' Guild Tuesday night, Miss Mary Furstenberger, hostess. Young People's meeting at 6:30 p. m. tomorrow will be at the home of Miss Joan Warner.

Unto Us a Child Is Born

A Sermonette

By DR. C. E. HERSHEY

Pastor of Emmanuel Baptist Church

* * *

Isaiah 9:6

ONCE more we have reached the time of the year when the Christmas message will be outstanding in the hearts and minds of the people. Christmas is and should be more than a mere holiday season to the believer. It should be a festival of hope. This festival of hope should be laden with promises and prophecies of good things to come. The Babe in the manger should mean more to us than a mere babe—it should be Christ the Revealer of God. God manifest in the flesh.

Unless Christ is the pre-eminent One of our Christmas season, it will be a hopeless tangle and a puzzle. Therefore, let us at this season worship and adore Him, the Mighty One, the Everlasting Father, the Prince of Peace, the Wonderful One, the Child born, the Son given.

During these days of false teaching we cannot overemphasize the truth of God's Word on the Virgin Birth. Truly Christ's birth was a miracle. God is the Performer of miracles. Even our very existence depends daily upon the miracle of God. The earth's daily revolution, and the rising and the setting of the sun which it ensures; the mightly flashing of the distant stars; the tides and currents of the sea, the silently passing season of the year—are not these miracles? No miracle is too great for God.

In Isaiah 7:10 we find that Ahaz was to ask a sign and when he would not the Lord Himself gave the sign: "Behold a virgin shall conceive, and bear a son, and shall call his name Immanuel." Isa. 7:14.

The Hebrew word, "Immanuel" significies, "God with us." It sets forth the nature and character in which Jesus Christ should come and be known. He is the God-man, the Word made flesh. It presents to us the work and mission of Christ and the Divine purpose of the incarnation. If he had not been Emmanuel—God with us—He could not have been the Saviour. By the light of nature we see God above us; by the light of Law we see Him as God against us; but by the glorious light of the Gospel we see Him as Immanuel, God with us, in our own nature and meeting man's human needs. He brings God and man together and the glorious salvation scheme is perfected.

From the time [illegible] men watched [illegible] God promised. [illegible] was the hope [illegible] of the world.

"For unto us a child is born unto us a son is given" Isa 9:6 God gave His best. The birth is the proof of the promise. God did not say unto us a son is born unto us a king is given. Jesus Christ was God's unspeakable gift to us. His birth was the supreme expression of the love which lay hidden in the heart of God before the pendulum of time began to swing.

He came as a tender shoot of a dry ground Isa 53:2. The law of nature requires moisture to make a seed grow. Here again we have proof of Christ's supernatural conception. He was truly the Son of God, yet made flesh. By His birth He became the Son of Man, born of woman, and therefore our Kinsman Redeemer.

Blood is the price of sacrifice. Sinless blood had to be shed for sinful man. Life is in the blood. All through the Old Testament we see the offering of blood from the bulls and goats. Each year this sacrifice had to be made. But in Christ's sacrifice the blood was incorruptible. Hebrews 9:13-15. The sacrifice was made once and for all. The miracle of Calvary completed the plan of salvation, because Christ was the virgin-born Son of God.

Christmas—the time when we celebrate the birth of the Savior—should not be Christ-less. "For God so loved the world that He gave His only begotten Son." In the midst of your gift giving, stop and receive's God's gift—His Soil—as your personal Saviour. Believer, stop and give thanks—thanks unto God for His unspeakable Gift."

It's Refreshing!
HOW OFTEN have you heard people say, "I just never drink a glass of water"? Yet doctors and health authorities recommend that everybody drink from six to eight glasses a day.
THERE'S a reason for this: the human body is about 70% water. A certain amount is lost every day and must be replaced to keep you in good health.
And Healthful, Too! SEEING to it that your body gets enough water every day is a simple and inexpensive contribution you can make to your own good health. It's important, too!

PREVIEWS OF COMING ATTRACTIONS AT THE THEATERS

Drama of West At Palace Theater

Red River, a suspense-packed Western drama co-starring John Wayne and Joanne Dru and the screen debut of Montgomery Clift with Walter Brennan, opened today at the Palace theater and is billed to continue through Tuesday.

A fine picture, "Red River" brings to the screen the story of a cattle drive up the Chisholm Trail from Texas to Kansas just after the Civil War. It is adapted from Borden Chase's popular magazine serial "The Chisholm Trail."

The story begins in Texas just prior to the Civil War and concerns Thomas Dunson, played by John Wayne, a many pioneer who dreams of being the first cattle emperor of the Southwest. Years later Dunson and his adopted son, Matthew Garth, played by Montgomery Clift and his trusted friend Groot Nadine, played by Walter Brennan, and a huge band of trail-hardened cow wranglers drive their herd over the now-famous Chisholm Trail, with Abilene, Kansas as their goal.

On the trip, they are confronted with danger including an Indian attack, a cattle stampede, and the hazardous crossing of the famous Red River by men, horses and cattle.

Heading the supporting cast are Noah Beery Jr., Harry Carey Jr. and Harry Carey Sr.

Playing Wednesday and Thursday will be a comedy production, "No Minor Vices" starring Dana Andrews, Lilli Palmer and Louis Jourdan.

It is the story of a girl who has to choose between a stuffed-shirt husband and an unconventional artist.

A double feature, "Race Street" starring George Raft, William Bendix and Marilyn Maxwell, and "Variety Time," presenting many musical, dancing and comedy acts, will be shown Friday and Saturday.

"Race Street" tells of a race track handicapper who takes the law into his own hands to avenge the murder of a friend.

In the latter picture patterned after big-time vaudeville, Jack Parr makes his film debut as master of ceremonies. The acts include music by Frankie Carle and his orchestra, short comedies starring Edgar Kennedy and Leon Errol, and novelty dance routines.

Van Johnson Stars In State Picture

"High Barbaree" starring Van Johnson and June Allyson, and "Fast Company" with the Dead End Kids will be shown Sunday and Monday at the State theater.

Billed as a double feature for Tuesday and Wednesday are "Casbah" and "Devil Ship." The former stars Yvonne DeCarlo and Tony Martin, and heading the cast in the latter are Richard Lane and Louise Campbell.

Sharyn Moffett and Walter Reed are the stars of the production, "Banjo," which will be the main attraction of a double feature playing Thursday through Saturday. Completing the billing will be "Sunset Carson Rides Again" starring Sunset Carson.

"Sea Spoilers" At Ohio Theater

"The Sea Spoilers" starring John Wayne with Nan Grey, Fuzzy Knight and William Bakewell, and "Argentine Nights" starring the Ritz Brothers and the Andrews Sisters, will be shown Sunday through Wednesday at the Ohio theater.

The story in "The Sea Spoilers" deals with one of the most dangerous and thrilling tasks performed by the Coast Guard, stamping out seal poaching in Alaska. It is centered around the outlaw activities of a seal poaching ring which is constantly pitting its wits against the Coast Guardsmen.

"Argentine Nights" tells what happens when the Ritz Brothers, entertainers, board a ship bound for the Argentine after they escape from a near riot.

A double feature, "Prisoner of Shark Island" and "Swamp Water," will be shown Thursday through Saturday.

"Swamp Water" co-stars Dana Andrews, Anne Baxter, Walter Brennan and Walter Huston, and unfolds the exciting story of a boy who matched his courage and cunning against a swamp-crazed madman in a fight for justice and the love of a girl.

Background for the story is Georgia's fabled Okefenokee Swamp and it gets off to an exciting start when, in this jungle swamp, Ben Ragan stumbles upon Tom Keefer, long since given up by a posse that had hunted him on a murder charge, and now a desperate fugitive who craves to kill the first man that dares come out after him.

JOHN WAYNE AND JOANNE DRU are starred in the exciting Western drama, "Red River," which is now playing through Tuesday at the Palace theater. Heading the cast with them are Montgomery Clift and Walter Brennan.

Alan Ladd, Donna Reed In Marion Film

"Beyond Glory," a dramatic romance starring Alan Ladd and Donna Reed, and "Love, Honor and Goodbye" with Virginia Bruce, will be shown Sunday and Monday at the Marion theater.

In the former film, Alan Ladd portrays a World War II hero who refuses to accept the Distinguished Service Cross because he believes he has killed his commanding officer and best friend. After vainly trying to find himself in civilian life, he goes to his friend's widow, played by Donna Reed, and confesses his part in her husband's tragic death. His confession to her affects a change in his life, one that influences him to arrange for his admission to West Point in hopes of finding relief from his guilt complex by dedicating himself to a military career.

Showing Tuesday and Wednesday will be Captain Tugboat Annie" starring Jane Darwell, Charles Gordon and Pamela Blake, and "Strange Impersonation" with Brenda Marshall and William Gargan.

The story in "Captain Tugboat Annie" deals with the riverfront conflict when the government, after the war returns tugboats and barges to their original owners. While struggling for her old position in the fleet, Tugboat Annie takes under her wing ex-veteran, Charles Gordon, who is on probation, and fosters a romance between the soldier and Pamela Blake. "Strange Impersonation" is the story of a young woman scientist whose beautiful face is horribly burned by a chemical explosion. As a result she loses her self-confidence, and is ashamed to face the man she loves.

"The Timber Trail" and "Mystery in Mexico" is the double feature billed for Thursday through Saturday. The former stars Monte Hale and Lynne Roberts, and heading the cast in the latter are William Lundigan, Jacqueline White and Ricardo Cortez.

Your Good Health

By DR. HERMAN N. BUNDESEN

Pain in Neck and Shoulder.

Who is there among us who, at some time or other, has not had a pain in the neck and shoulders, extending into the arms? This is a condition of relatively frequent occurrence. It would seem that there is a variety of causes for pain of this type. In general, these causes may be divided into two groups, those which are visible in the X-ray, and those which are not.

The X-ray will show such conditions as cervical rib, which is an extra rib coming from the upper part of the spine. It will also show abnormal bending of the spine, arthritis, or inflammation of the joints in the spine, or the protrusion of a cervical disk. Cervical disks are bits of cartilage between the bone at the upper part of the spine. Hence, one can readily see the value of taking X-rays when these conditions exist.

Among the conditions which do not show in the X-ray is one known as scalenus anticus syndrome in which there is pressure on the nerves and blood vessels by a muscle known as the scalenus anticus muscle.

Defects in posture and certain nerve disorders also are not shown in the X-ray plate.

It is believed that one of the most common causes of pain in the neck and shouders is bad posture, particularly sagging and drooping of the shoulders. This causes tension or pulling on the nerves coming from the spinal cord, as well as on the blood vessels.

Arthritis of the upper bones of the spine may be another cause of symptoms in the arms.

You can see that the exact treatmen which should be employed in these cases depends on the cause of the difficulty and that self-treatment may be dangerous.

Certain cases require operation. Fortunately, however, the majority of patients may be treated by other measures and do not often require confinement to bed. On the other hand, if there is a pronounced spasm of the muscles of the neck and shoulders, it may be necessary to have the patient put to bed on a firm, flat mattress. The application of heat and gentle massage may speed up relaxation of the muscles and relieve the pain. This is particularly true in patients with arthritis of the spine.

If it is thought that the condition is due to the scalenus anticus syndrome, the patient should lie with small pillows under each shoulder. This causes relaxation of the muscles of the upper part of the chest.

What most patients do not seem to realize is that pains in the neck and shouder may also be due to poor sleeping habits. That is why the patient shoud sleep with the arms at the side of the body, and avoid moving the arms away from the body as much as possible.

In all patients, relief of the symptoms is speeded up by a course of active muscle exercises to strengthen the muscles around the shoulders. The patients also are instructed to hold the upper part of the spine erect with the chin in, and to overcome the forward drooping of the shoulders. So you see much can be done to give relief once the cause is found.

Questions and Answers

S H.: When I rise, after sitting or lying down, I feel dizzy. What would cause this condition?

Answer: This condition is not unusual. Probably it is due to a drop in the blood pressure, which lasts only for a few moments. A condition of this type is not serious. However, a thorough study should be carried out by your doctor.

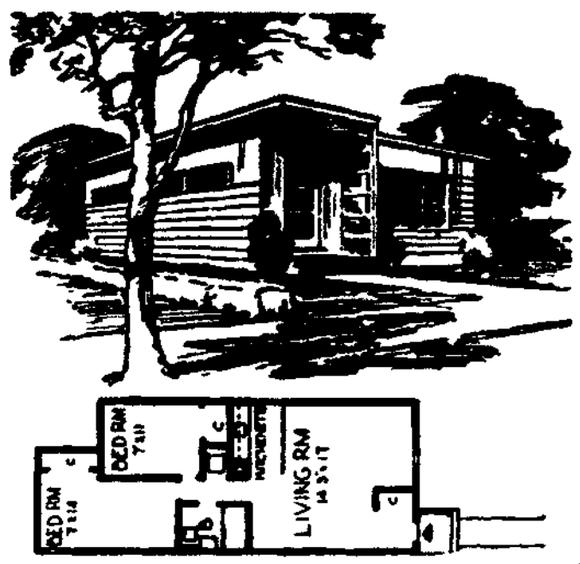
House Planned for a Narrow Plot



There has always been a question about the ability to build any kind of a small house on a 25-foot lot. The plan and elevation shown here may be the answer to that question.

The small one-story house illustrated is set in the center of a standard 25x100-foot plot and leaves a five-foot space between house side-lines and the property line.

The front of the house is attractive and neat looking, the side walls are fitted with ceiling windows in order to assure privacy and good interior wall space for furniture, and the living room is made light by six side windows and a large front window.

By clever planning, two bedrooms are presented and a complete bath room made available to each. The bedrooms are staggered so as to furnish as much room as possible in the width available.

Building on a 25-foot lot may have complications. While that dimension usually represents the standard plot, restrictions often specify that a house cannot be built on less than two lots. On the other hand, many large cities have thousands of houses which are built upon 18 and 20-foot lots, and which cover the entire plot. It is essential that the owner of such a small piece of property be sure of the local restrictions and ordinances before attempting to build upon it.

If restrictions permit, and there is no limitation on side lines, the house shown may be moved far over on the plot against one side line so as to have nearly a 10-foot space along one side of the house.

Considering the area involved, this house presents about the maximum in accommodations which it is possible to attain.

FIRST AID TO AILING HOUSE

—By ROGER C. WHITMAN—

Utility Room

Q. I have a small utility room built below floor level and am going to put a cement floor in it. Would it be advisable to enclose the area in cinder or cement blocks? At present we have just the piers, with no enclosure as yet. I am planning to install a floor furnace to make the house as warm as possible.

A.: The space can be enclosed either with cinder blocks or cement blocks. But there should be sufficient excavation for these walls with ample footings. The cement floor should be properly laid to keep out dampness. For information on this type of work ask the Portland Cement Association, 33 West Grand Ave., Chicago, to send you their Circular ST-22. The masonry walls (on the outside) should have a below-grade coating of hot tar or asphalt. Above ground (outside) paint them with cement-base paint containing a damp-proofer.

Painting Radiators

Q. The radiators in the old house we have bought are painted with a metallic paint which is very unsightly and chipped. We wish to replace it with a special radiator paint that will harmonize with the walls. But the directions say that all old paint should be removed before repainting. How is this done?

A.: The radiators must be cold from start to finish and until after the new paint has dried hard. Take off the old paint with paint remover, after first wire-brushing vigorously. Follow by washing with turpentine or benzine, being very careful of fire. Or take off the old paint with a hot solution of one cup of washing soda in a quart of water. After scraping and rubbing with steel wool until surfaces are clean rinse thoroughly with water to remove all traces of solution. The radiators must be clean and dry before repainting.

• • •

Sloping Attic Ceiling

Q.: The ceiling of my attic slopes at the sides. What colors would make the attic room look higher?

A.: A very light color would be better than any dark colog.

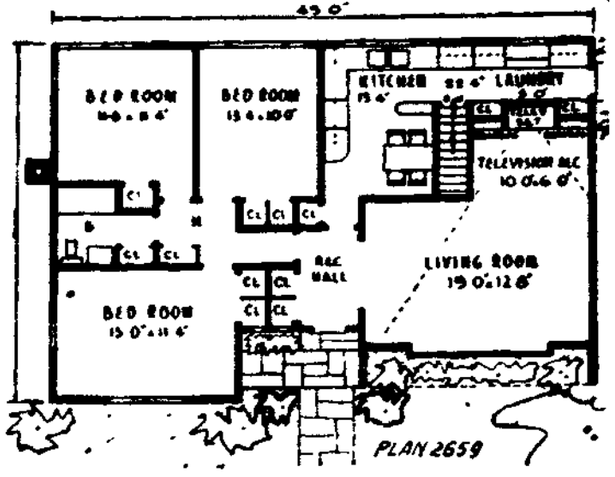
EMPIRE ENDED

SAN DIEGO—The last of the fabulous John D. Spreckels' interest in San Diego holdings has been sold, ending an empire that began in 1887 and at one time was estimated at $25,000,000. The last property was an 80-acre tract of unimproved land on Kearny Mesa.

HOMES FOR AMERICANS



By The Associated Press

A television house is one of the newest developments in architecture. This plan 2659 by Herman York, architect, 199-33 Keno Avenue, Hollis 7, N. Y., is designed with a shaded alcove in the living room to accommodate television set, radio, record player and home movie screen. The house covers an area of 1,285 square feet. The architect says he is convinced from experience that television becomes a new center in a home, superseding the fireplace. He believes that new homes should be planned for television even in areas not yet covered by video.

Love's Perilous Path

By ADELE GARRISON

IF I had not been so tenesed over the possible danger to my father, I should have laughed at the faces of my husband, and of Lillian as they heard my explosive outburst. They looked exactly like small boys who have had a carefully planned trick spoiled by some one's premature discovery of its mechanism.

Then Lillian moved in her heavy artillery to my defense.

"If you two haven't guessed it before," she said, "suppose I tell you that our Madgie's a big girl now, and she knows that Santa Claus and the stork, and a few other sops to the infantile mind, are lovely myths. Your effort to spare her anxiety was most laudable, but I'd advise you to tell her the truth. She'll be able to stand it much better than you think."

"If we were back in Massachusetts colonial days," Dicky said wearily, "you'd be nicely ensconced in the stocks with a clothespin attached to your tongue to show why you were there."

"Sirrah!" Harry Underwood said, registering strong anger, "don't you dare asperse my wife, or I shall be compelled to put your other arm out of commission."

"Never mind stalling for time," Lillian told them inexorably. "Just break down and tell us the truth."

"All right, all right" her big husband said. "As per usual, Madgie's intuition is one hundred per cent correct. The chief did not take any disguise with him, but the taxi driver was one of his trusted men."

"Thank God for that much anyway," I said, adding remorsefully: "Please forgive me for flying out at you both that way, but, I just couldn't take it any longer."

My husband reached out his uninjured hand to me, and I gripped it as if it were a rope thrown to me in a dangerous surf.

"I know, Sweet," he murmured then his eyes went to those of Harry Underwood.

"Have you any more unspilled dope?" he asked.

Not a single drop," the big man said with a wide grin which I knew was meant as an effort to disguise from me his own and Dicky's secret worry over my father. "The cruet's empty."

"In that case," my husband shifted his eyes to mine, "what's the matter with getting the kids back?"

"We can't do that," I said with decision. "Not until the hour that Katharine specified is up."

"No, I suppose not," Dicky admitted. "Faith would be sure to smell a mouse if you summoned them back before the time set for them."

His voice was filled with the fatuous pride in his small daughter's keenness which is his and I did not puncture it with the painful truth that many people outside our family circle called it brashness.

Lillian struck in brusquely, making it unnecessary for me to make any comment upon Dicky's laudation of his small daughter.

"If you're sure you haven't any suppressed words yearning for utterance," she told her big husband, "why don't we pick up our feet and make tracks back to our own hearthstone." Who knows Carlotta Carroll even now may be crouching on our doorstep craving admittance."

LOW-COST HOUSES OHIO AIM FOR 1949

Will Cater to Smaller Income Group, Says Builder.

By The United Press

COLUMBUS, Dec. 11—Low-cost houses for the lower income group will be the No. 1 objective of Ohio home builders during 1949, E. W. Bailey, president of the Ohio Builders association said today.

"Our job for 1949 is to build good low-cost houses that will sell fast to the masses of people in the lower income group that needs them," Bailey told the fifth annual convention of the association here.

"It is no secret that we will cater to this group—that is where the 1949 business is," he added.

The Youngstown home builder said the small things in home building—the $5 and $15 items—are the things the builder has to watch in keeping the costs down.

"A builder is torn between producing a more complete and livable home and the price tag," he continued. "On small homes I began leaving off the doorbells three years ago. I figured the price of a good door was one would quit the low-priced buyer.

We put the money saved in [illegible] better living. On a small house a storm can use that money.

Other speakers [illegible] agreed with Bailey. They maintained that the secret to low cost homes is to eliminate things that [illegible] They urged putting more emphasis into the home so the buyer could [illegible] the home into the original mortgage or [illegible] at his leisure at a low cost.

Edward Gaylord, editor of the American Builder Magazine told the home builders that "the merchant builder has never had more value to sell than he does today.

"There is better engineering of space, more efficiency and more convenience," he said. "The house is no longer a shell. It is a place. Sanitation is better, there is a real food preparation unit and the home is light and livable in a sense unknown 20 years ago. It is a package with economies in it."

Diamond dust used to polish hard metal dies is recovered and used again.

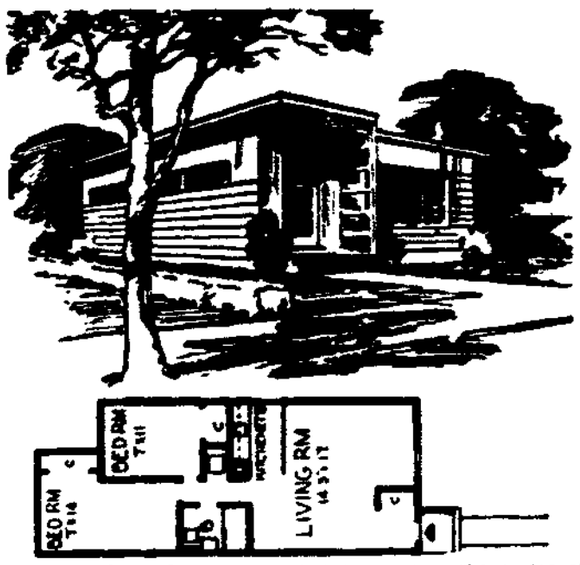
House Planned for a Narrow Plot



There has always been a question about the ability to build any kind of a small house on a 25-foot lot. The plan and elevation shown here may be the answer to that question.

The small one-story house illustrated is set in the center of a standard 25x100-foot plot, and leaves a five-foot space between house side-lines and the property line.

The front of the house is attractive and neat looking, the side walls are fitted with ceiling windows in order to assure privacy and good interior wall space for furniture, and the living room is made light by six side windows and a large front window.

By clever planning, two bedrooms are presented and a complete bath room made available to each. The bedrooms are staggered so as to furnish as much room as possible in the width available.

Building on a 25-foot lot may have complications. While that dimension usually represents the standard plot, restrictions often specify that a house cannot be built on less than two lots. On the other hand, many large cities have thousands of houses which are built upon 18 and 20-foot lots, and which cover the entire plot. It is essential that the owner of such a small piece of property be sure of the local restrictions and ordinances before attempting to build upon it.

If restrictions permit, and there is no limitation on side lines, the house shown may be moved far over on the plot against one side line so as to have nearly a 10-foot space along one side of the house.

Considering the area involved, this house presents about the maximum in accommodations which it is possible to attain.

FIRST AID TO AILING HOUSE

—By ROGER C. WHITMAN—

Utility Room

Q. I have a small utility room built below floor level and am going to put a cement floor in it. Would it be advisable to use one inch area in corner or cement blocks? At present we have just the piers, with no enclosure as yet. I am planning to install a floor furnace to make the house as warm as possible.

A.: The space can be enclosed either with cinder blocks or cement blocks. But there should be sufficient excavation for these walls with ample footings. The cement floor should be properly laid to keep out dampness. For information on this type of work ask the Portland Cement Association, 33 West Grand Ave., Chicago, to send you their Circular ST-22. The masonry walls (on the outside) should have a below-grade coating of hot tar or asphalt. Above ground (outside) paint them with cement-base paint containing a damp-proofer.

Painting Radiators

Q. The radiators in the old house we have bought are painted with a metallic paint which is very unsightly and chipped. We wish to replace it with a special radiator paint that will harmonize with the walls. But the directions say that all old paint should be removed before repainting. How is this done?

A.: The radiators must be cold from start to finish and until after the new paint has dried hard. Take off the old paint with paint remover, after first wire-brushing vigorously. Follow by washing with turpentine or benzine, being very careful of fire. Or take off the old paint with a hot solution of one cup of washing soda in a quart of water. After scraping and rubbing with steel wool until surfaces are clean, rinse thoroughly with water to remove all traces of solution. The radiators must be clean and dry before repainting.

• • •

Sloping Attic Ceiling

Q.: The ceiling of my attic slopes at the sides. What colors would make the attic room look higher?

A.: A very light color would be better than any dark color.

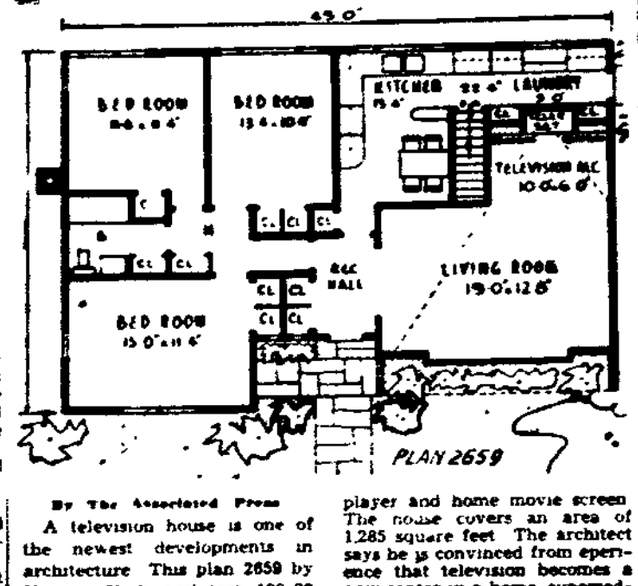
HOMES FOR AMERICANS



By The Associated Press

A television house is one of the newest developments in architecture. This plan 2659 by Herman York, architect, 199-33 Keno Avenue, Hollis 7, N. Y., is designed with a shaded alcove in the living room to accommodate television set, radio, record player and home movie screen. The house covers an area of 1,285 square feet. The architect says he is convinced from experience that television becomes a new center in a home, superseding the fireplace. He believes that new homes should be planned for television even in areas not yet covered by video.

Love's Perilous Path

By ADELE GARRISON

IF I had not been so tenesed over the possible danger to my father, I should have laughed at the faces of my husband, and of Lillian's as they heard my explosive outburst. They looked exactly like small boys who have had a carefully planned trick spoiled by some one's premature discovery of its mechanism.

Then Lillian moved in her heavy artillery to my defense.

"If you two haven't guessed it before," she said, "suppose I tell you that our Madgie's a big girl now, and she knows that Santa Claus and the stork, and a few other sops to the infantile mind, are lovely myths. Your effort to spare her anxiety was most laudable, but I'd advise you to tell her the truth. She'll be able to stand it much better than you think."

"If we were back in Massachusetts colonial days," Dicky said wearily, "you'd be nicely ensconced in the stocks with a clothespin attached to your tongue to show why you were there."

"Sirrah!" Harry Underwood said, registering strong anger, "don't you dare asperse my wife, or I shall be compelled to put your other arm out of commission."

"Never mind stalling for time," Lillian told them inexorably. "Just break down and tell us the truth."

"All right, all right," her big husband said. "As per usual, Madgie's intuition is one hundred per cent correct. The chief did not take any disguise with him, but the taxi driver was one of his trusted men."

"Thank God for that much anyway," I said, adding remorsefully: "Please forgive me for flying out at you both that way, but, I just couldn't take it any longer."

My husband reached out his uninjured hand to me, and I gripped it as if it were a rope thrown to me in a dangerous surf.

"I know, Sweet," he murmured, then his eyes went to those of Harry Underwood.

"Have you any more unspilled dope?" he asked.

"Not a single drop," the big man said with a wide grin which I knew was meant as an effort to disguise from me his own and Dicky's secret worry over my father. "The cruet's empty."

"In that case," my husband shifted his eyes to mine, "what's the matter with getting the kids back?"

"We can't do that," I said with decision. "Not until the hour that Katharine specified is up."

"No, I suppose not," Dicky admitted. "Faith would be sure to smell a mouse if you summoned them back before the time set for them."

His voice was filled with the famous pride in his small daughter's keenness, which was and I did not puncture it to tell the painful truth that many people inside our family circle called it "brassiness."

Lillian shrunk in brusquely, making it unnecessary for me to make any comment upon Dicky's laudation of his small daughter.

"If you're sure you haven't any suppressed words yearning for utterance," she told her big husband, "why don't we pick up our feet and make tracks back to our own hearthstone? Who knows Carlotta Carroll even now may be crouching on our doorstep craving admittance."

LOW-COST HOUSES OHIO AIM FOR 1949

Will Cater to Smaller Income Group, Says Builder.

By The United Press

COLUMBUS, Dec. —[illegible] houses for the [illegible] income group will be the No. 1 [illegible] of Ohio home builders during 1949, E. W. Bailey, president of the Ohio Builders association, said today.

"Our job for 1949 is to build good low-cost houses that will sell fast to the masses of people in the lower income group that needs them," Bailey told the fifth annual convention of the association here.

"It is no secret that we will cater to this group—that is where the 1949 business is," he added.

The Youngstown home builder said the small things in home building—the $5 and $15 items—are the things the builder has to watch in keeping the costs down.

"A builder is torn between producing a more complete and livable home and the price tag," he continued. "On small homes I began leaving off the doorbells three years ago. I figured the price of a good [illegible] the world [illegible] the [illegible]."

Columbus Hosts Come Back in 4th Period

The Marion St Mary Fighting Irish were barely edged out of their second victory last night by Columbus Holy Rosary, 32-30 It was a thrill-packed game that kept the fans at the K of C gym at Columbus screaming most of the game

High scorer for both teams was Jim Scanlon with 14 points, all by field goals Bill Merchant led the Irish scoring with 11 markers Bill Maloney turned in a good performance for the evening by controlling almost all the rebounds under the Columbus basket and about half of them under his own He also chalked up eight points for the night

Many Fast Breaks

It was a game marked by many fast breaks, intercepted passes and fine rebound work Each team intercepted a good percentage of the other's passes

Tony Purpura started the game off by swishing a long shot and then added another bucket and a free toss which, plus a two-pointer by Ed McNulty, gave the Crusaders seven points for the first period. Bill Merchant, with a bucket and a foul shot, and Bob Armbruster, with a basket joined for St Mary's five tallies

Scoring picked up in the second frame with the Irish swishing 12 to 16 for Holy Rosary Columbus led 23-17 at the half St Mary scoring came as a result of three baskets by Bill Merchant, one bucket each by Ed Maloney and Bill Maloney and two free throws by Nick Maniaci

The Irish roared out in the third stanza to again score 12 points while holding Columbus to two points on a basket by Tony Purpura The locals used a fast break to their advantage this period Bill Maloney led the attack with three baskets and Bill Merchant and Jim Cusick scored a basket each plus two free tosses by Nick Maniaci.

Fail in Fourth

The last quarter was practically devoid of scoring with Columbus chalking up seven tallies and holding the Irish to one. Jim Cusick accounted for the lone Marion point Jim Scanlon with two baskets, "Breath" Whitman with two foul shots and Purpura with one free toss joined for the Crusaders' points St. Mary took the lead near the end of the third period and led going into the final period, 29-25, but they could not continue their scoring and lost it just before the officials' time, 32,30, the game ending with that same score

The Irish Reserves somewhat salvaged the night for St Mary by hanging up their first victory, 32-29 They jumped to an early advantage and stayed there with Jaspar Tinnerello pacing the victors with 12 markers Bott led the losers with 12

EZ CHARLES GIVES DRUBBING TO BAKSI

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, Dec 11—Who's going to fight Joe Louis in June Ezzard Charles isn't too sure he wants to meet the champion He might if he was pushed, he said after he chopped up a rusty, plodding Joe Baksi, and stopped him in the 11th round at Madison Square Garden last night

"I don't know about Louis," Charles said in his dressing room as he nursed his left wrist. Charles said he hurt the wrist in the third round

"I'd have to be in better shape for the champion than I was for this thing Then, too, you know how I feel about Louis I rather not meet him cause, after all well, he's the champ, that's all"

Charles, who spotted Baksi 32½ pounds—178 to 210½—gave Baksi a good going over. He belted him with both hands throughout the fight and had him bleeding from the nose, mouth and a deep gash over his left eye

The Cincinnati Negro was a very good 1 to 3 choice over a slow-moving clay pigeon He didn't down the ex-coal miner from Kulpmont, Pa, but he had the glory of stopping Baksi for the first time in the latter's career of 64 fights

Referee Ruby Goldstein halted the bout at 2 33 of the 11th round when Baksi, blood streaming down his face from the gashed left eye said 'Stop it. I can't see I can't see"

Louis picked up $7 492 55 for himself in Chicago (the crowd was 6,517 and the net gate $23,-054) last night when he toyed with Conn in an exhibition six-rounder with 14-ounce gloves Conn earned $5 187 15 for his third go, and probably his last, with the champ

CHISOX MAY HIRE NEGRO OUTFIELDER

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO, Dec 11—The Chicago White Sox for the first time may hire a Negro baseball player, it was learned today.

As the frost-bitten baseball caravan moved from Minneapolis' minor league convention to the big league sessions in Chicago, reports circulated that the Sox were trying to buy Sam Jethroe, a Negro outfielder from Brooklyn's Montreal farm.

Frank Lane, Chicago's energetic general manager, talked with Branch Rickey, Dodger president, for several hours yesterday with Jethroe the chief topic of conversation. Lane, anxious to revivify the cellar Sox with youth, speed and hustle, and at the same time give the Sox fans a gate attraction, is eager to land Jethroe.

The only hindrance is the sales price. Rickey, who has his own ideas of the relative worth of his players, has set a fancy price on Jethroe. He is perfectly willing to give up the fleet-footed flychaser, but for $40,000. Ironically, the Sox could have had Jethroe for nothing two years ago. They gave him a trial at Comiskey park two summers ago but he failed to impress

Jethroe, 22, batting in the leadoff spot for the International league champion Royals last season, hit .322. Although he played in only 76 games, he was tied for the league lead in stolen bases with 18

Bucyrus, Greenville Ask For Grand Circuit Dates

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, Dec. 11—Delaware's distinction of being the only county fair on the Grand Circuit itinerary in recent years may be in danger next week when the Grand Circuit stewards convene here.

Officials of the Darke county fair (Greenville) and the Crawford county fair (Bucyrus) said they would be on hand to ask for dates

Directors of the U S Trotting association, ruling body of the nation's harness race tracks, convene Sunday with meetings of various association committees The convention gets down to business Monday and Tuesday, with the stewards meeting Tuesday to set the Grand Circuit dates for next year.

During the war, the Darke county track was host to the Grand circuit, substituting for Indianapolis where the government had taken over the fairgrounds Then, the Greenville program attracted large crowds—an item the Greenville officials will call to the attention of the big line stewards

Other matters to come before the association directors will include a decision which may affect the professional careers of six harness race drivers

The six drivers, suspended for life by the Kentucky district in connection with a "fixed" race at Brentlawn, near Louisville, Ky, last summer, are appealing the suspensions

They are Louis Huber Jr, of Mt Healthy O, C Herman Stepro and Art Phillips of Corydon, Ind, George Rappenbury of Muncie, Ind., Harold Snodgrass of Indianapolis, Ind and Bernard Shepherd of South Beloit, Ill

The appeals will be heard at 2 p m Monday

In addition to the drivers' appeals, directors will consider the application for a long night meeting at Phoenix Ariz, beginning in mid-January

The Ohio district board will consider on Tuesday a case in which Otie Bell of Winchester, O, was indefinitely suspended by association president Henry Knauf of Ladd, Ill. for alleged "ringing," or racing a horse under other than his correct name.

Later the same day, the Kentucky district board will hear the case of John Taylor of London, O, who underwent a lie detector test to clear himself of "doping" charges at Lexington, Ky.

Tent Stake King

By Hal Boyle

NEW YORK — [illegible] 7,700,000 tent stakes. They [illegible] a one-man monopoly nobody seems to want—tent stakes. And Rocky, a Kansas City businessman, owns a quarter of [illegible].

Rocky [illegible] tent stake king, [illegible] to stretch about 2,600 miles, or from Cleveland to Seattle.

Hal Boyle

Rocky's troubles began last May while he was traveling about the country buying war surplus materials. At New Orleans an official of the War Assets Administration told him:

"At Shreveport we've got 8,500,000 surplus tent stakes. It's a real bargain. Think of all the things they could be used for."

Rocky agreed it was a rare opportunity. He rushed to Shreveport and found the tent stakes. They had cost the government $898,000—better than a dime apiece. Rocky got them for a fraction of a cent each.

"But you have to move them within 90 days," he was warned.

* * *

ROCKY LOOKED at his tent stakes again. They were in boxes piled 15 feet high, 30 feet wide. And the stack stretched a half mile.

"Eighty-nine days later I got the last of 'em moved to the other side of town by a packing firm," Rocky sighed. "But I had twenty pounds lighter and had 400 new gray hairs.

"Meanwhile, I had been thinking what to do with them. Everyone thought good seasoned oak tent stakes would be fine for a lot of things. So did I. But for what?"

Half the tent pegs were 24 inches long, half were 16 inches.

"First I talked to the tent manufacturers," Rocky recalled. "It turned out that 8,500,000 tent stakes were enough to last them 50 years—and they don't buy that far ahead."

On the other hand there were not enough to make it profitable to set up a factory to turn them into hardwood flooring.

* * *

HOW ABOUT MAKING them into surveyor's stacks? Too costly. Croquet posts? No market there either. How about turning them into small picket fences? The tent stakes were too heavy and thick.

"I couldn't sell them for firewood because they burn too fast," mourned Rocky. "I was willing to donate a big batch to the Boy Scouts—but it would've cost me more to ship them than I paid for 'em."

About then Rocky learned that an Army depot at Memphis had 8,000,000 to 10,000,000 small pup tent pegs for sale.

"As far as I was concerned they'd stay for sale forever," he said. "I doubt if any man in history ever owned as many tent pegs as I did—and I certainly didn't want any more."

The only way Rocky has found so far to get out from under his investment is to manufacture his tent stakes into camp stools. Each takes eight pegs and some canvas.

"THAT LEFT ME the job of finding 1,062,500 people who wanted to sit on a camp stool," he said. "So far I've only found 100,000."

But this used up 800,000 tent stakes—leaving him only 7,700,000 to go. One reason Rocky wants to pull up stakes and get out of the tent stake business is to give him time to work out another small personal problem.

"I also bought 70,000 steel files to sharpen saws," he sighed. "And you'de be surprised how few people are sharpening saws this year."

BUTTONS AND BOWS. 23 years old but still interested in buttons and bows is Miss Anita Sperl, arriving in New York from Germany enroute to visit daughter, Mrs Michael Rubin in St Louis Mo. It's been 20 years since mother and daughter saw each other.

Christmas Dinner Held by D. of I. Circle

A dinner was followed by a program when Our Lady of Victory circle Daughters of Isabella met for its annual Christmas party Tuesday night in the Moose hall. A manger scene and lighted Christmas tree on the stage provided a Yuletide setting and the table decorations and favors were in keeping with the holiday theme.

Mrs Mary Ann Cusick was the program announcer. A chorus composed of Misses Donna Mae Fowler, Florence McKinney, Mary Ann Anderson, Rose Mosley, Josephine Coffey, Mary Ann Casey, Rosemary Caserta, Rosemary Dunn and Gertrude Lawler entertained with [illegible]. Mary Hamilton sang "Lo, the Brahms. Mrs Kenneth Cranley read [illegible] to the [illegible]. Mrs Pigler gave a reading. "A Christmas Prayer" and Mrs John Wesley sang "Sleep, Holy Babe." Miss Jane Barnhart played the [illegible] accompaniments. Greetings were extended by Miss Marie Wolfegent and gifts were [illegible] by Santa Claus. Miss Gerene Kirkpatrick was chairman of the committee in charge of the party.

Prospect St. Church Class Entertained

A meeting of the Sunshine class of Prospect Street Methodist church was held Thursday night at the church with Mrs Fred P Haas, Mrs Perry Rowland and Mrs Nettie Hecker serving as hostesses.

Group singing of Christmas carols, prayer by Mrs Harry Wilhelm and devotions in charge of Mrs Closs Musgrave opened the meeting. Plans were made to fill baskets for needy families at Christmas. A letter was read from Mrs. Clarence Gompf of Tucson, Ariz., a former member of the class.

The program, in charge of Mrs John Schultz, included a vocal duet by Mrs Wilhelm and Mrs Helen Wires, another vocal duet by Mrs. Musgrave and Mrs. Earl Harden, and contests with honors going to Mrs Harden and Mrs. Wires. A gift exchange was held.

Cub Pack To Hold Christmas Exchange

Plans were made for a Christmas exchange at the next meeting, Dec. 20, at a committee meeting of Cub Pack No 65, of the Silver Street school, Monday night, at the home of Mrs. Betty Strickland on Toledo avenue. The meeting will be held at the Lee Street Presbyterian church and the program will be in charge of den mothers, Mrs Juanita Hatch, Mrs Virginia Mayes and Mrs. Betty Strickland, together with the dens. Also serving on the Christmas program committee will be George Huntsman, Clyde Calbert, Clyde Tumbleson and Mr. Bess. Parents of the boys are urged to attend the meeting.

Members of the dens will go caroling on Dec. 21. This will be in charge of the den mothers. Refreshments were served by the hostess assisted by Mrs Alberta Brothers.

25 Crawford Co. Men Take Draft Physicals

Special to The Star

BUCYRUS — Pre-induction examinations for service in the armed forces were taken this week at Mansfield by 25 more Crawford county youths, county draft board officials announced today.

The local board has not been informed how many passed their physicals.

With this week's group the county has sent 74 men to Mansfield for examinations since the new selective service law went into effect but no Crawford county resident has been actually inducted into the armed services to date, draft board members said.

High rate of rejection for physical reasons has resulted in only a few Crawford county men being eligible for actual induction.

Men this week were 21 and 22-year-olds.

Tent Stake King

By Hal Boyle

NEW YORK — I KNOW a man who's got 7,700,000—and he's complaining.

But R. W. ("Rocky") Johnson doesn't have 7,700,000 dollars. He has 7,700,000 tent stakes.

And that's why he's complaining. He's a one-man monopolist with a monopoly nobody seems to want—tent stakes. And Rocky, a Kansas City businessman, owns a mountain of 'em.

"Enough," gloomed the nation's unwilling tent stake king, "to stretch about 2,600 miles, or from Cleveland to Seattle."

Hal Boyle

Rocky's troubles began last May while he was traveling about the country buying war surplus materials. At New Orleans an official of the War Assets Administration told him:

"At Shreveport we've got 8,500,000 surplus tent stakes. It's a real bargain. Think of all the things they could be used for."

Rocky agreed it was a rare opportunity. He rushed to Shreveport and found the tent stakes. They had cost the government $898,000—better than a dime apiece. Rocky got them for a fraction of a cent each.

"But you have to move them out in 90 days," he was warned.

• • •

ROCKY LOOKED at his tent stakes again. They were in boxes in a stack 15 feet high, 30 feet wide. And the stack stretched a half mile.

"Eighty-nine days later I got the last of 'em moved to the other side of town by a planing mill," Rocky sighed. "But I was twenty pounds lighter and had 400 new gray hairs.

"Meanwhile, I had been thinking what to do with them. Everybody thought good seasoned oak tent stakes would be fine for a lot of things. So did I. But for what?"

Half the tent pegs were 24 inches long, half were 16 inches.

"First I talked to the tent manufacturers," Rocky recalled. "It turned out that 8,500,000 tent stakes were enough to last them 50 years—and they don't buy that far ahead."

On the other hand there were not enough to make it profitable to set up a factory to turn them into hardwood flooring.

• • •

HOW ABOUT MAKING them into surveyor's sticks? Too costly. Croquet posts? No market there either. How about turning them into small picket fences? The tent stakes were too heavy and thick.

"I couldn't sell them for firewood because they burn too fast," mourned Rocky. "I was willing to donate a big batch to the Boy Scouts—but it would've cost me more to ship them than I paid for 'em."

About then Rocky learned that an Army depot at Memphis had 8,000,000 to 10,000,000 small pup tent pegs for sale.

"As far as I was concerned they'd stay for sale forever," he said. "I doubt if any man in history ever owned as many tent pegs as I did—and I certainly didn't want any more."

The only way Rocky has found so far to get out from under his investment is to manufacture his tent stakes into camp stools. Each takes eight pegs and some canvas.

"THAT LEFT ME the job of finding 1,062,500 people who wanted to sit on a camp stool," he said. "So far I've only found 100,000."

• • •

But this used up 800,000 tent stakes—leaving him only 7,700,000 to go. One reason Rocky wants to pull up stakes and get out of the tent stake business is to give him time to work out another small personal problem.

"I also bought 70,000 steel files to sharpen saws," he sighed. "And you'de be surprised how few people are sharpening saws this year."

BUTTONS AND BOWS. 83 years old but still interested in buttons and bows is Mrs. Anna Soteri, arriving in New York from Germany enroute to visit daughter, Mrs. Michael Rilli, in St. Louis, Mo. It's been 20 years since mother and daughter saw each other.

Prospect St. Church Class Entertained

A meeting of the Sunshine class of Prospect Street Methodist church was held Thursday night at the church with Mrs. Fred P. Haas, Mrs. Perry Rowland and Mrs. Nettie Hecker serving as hostesses.

Group singing of Christmas carols, prayer by Mrs. Harry Wilhelm and devotions in charge of Mrs. Closs Musgrave opened the meeting. Plans were made to fill baskets for needy families at Christmas. A letter was read from Mrs. Clarence Gompf of Tucson, Ariz., a former member of the class.

The program, in charge of Mrs. John Schultz, included a vocal duet by Mrs. Wilhelm and Mrs. Helen Wires, another vocal duet by Mrs. Musgrave and Mrs. Earl Harden, and contests with honors going to Mrs. Harden and Mrs. Wires. A gift exchange was held.

Cub Pack To Hold Christmas Exchange

Plans were made for a Christmas exchange at the next meeting, Dec. 20, at a committee meeting of Cub Pack No. 65, of the Silver Street school, Monday night, at the home of Mrs. Betty Strickland on Toledo avenue. The meeting will be held at the Lee Street Presbyterian church and the program will be in charge of den mothers, Mrs. Juanita Hatch, Mrs. Virginia Mayes and Mrs. Betty Strickland, together with the dens. Also serving on the Christmas program committee will be George Huntsman, Clyde Calbert, Clyde Tumbleson and Mr. Bess. Parents of the boys are urged to attend the meeting.

Members of the dens will go caroling on Dec. 21. This will be in charge of the den mothers. Refreshments were served by the hostess assisted by Mrs. Alberta Brothers.

25 Crawford Co. Men Take Draft Physicals

Special to The Star

BUCYRUS — Pre-induction examinations for service in the armed forces were taken this week at Mansfield by 25 more Crawford county youths, county draft board officials announced today.

The local board has not been informed how many passed their physicals.

With this week's group, the county has sent 74 men to Mansfield for examinations since the new selective service law went into effect but no Crawford county resident has been actually inducted into the armed services to date, draft board members said.

High rate of rejection for physical reasons has resulted in only a few Crawford county men being eligible for actual induction.

Men this week were 21 and 22-year-olds.

Christmas Dinner Held by D. of I. Circle

A dinner was followed by a program when Our Lady of Victory circle, Daughters of Isabella, met for its annual Christmas party Tuesday night in the Moose hall. A manger scene and lighted Christmas tree on the stage provided a Yuletide setting and the table decorations and favors were in keeping with the holiday theme.

Miss Mary Ann Cusick was the program announcer. A chorus composed of Misses Donna Mae Lawler, Florence McKinney, Mary Ann Anderson, Rose Mooney, Josephine Coffey, Mary Ann Cusick, Rosemary Caserta, Rosemary Dunn and Gertrude Lawler entertained with music and Miss Mary Hamilton sang "Lullaby" Brahms. Mrs. Kenneth Chaney read a poem, 'Twas the Night to be Jolly." Miss Carole Jean Pigner gave a reading, "A Child's Prayer," and Mrs. John Wesley sang, "Sleep Holy Babe." Miss Jane Bauhauf played the piano accompaniments. Greetings were extended by Miss Marie Wolf, regent and gifts were distributed by Santa Claus. Miss Geneva Krumroy was chairman of the committee in charge of the party.

In Loving Memory

*of my husband, Montgomery S Miller, who passed away four years ago, December 12th, 1944.

If he could speak I think he'd say
"I like this quiet place,
Where green fields spread their carpets
Within the hills' embrace;
Where silent trees await the dusk
And soft winds creep and play;
Where quiet shadows gather around
To close each dying day."
I think he'd like the falling rain,
The gentle touch of snow;
And for each fragrant breath of spring
He would be glad, I know.
And he will sleep in silence there
Till time, itself, shall cease;
At rest, he'll greet each shining dawn
In solitude and peace.

By Carson J. Cook

Dear friends:

So many people promise themselves that they are going to save a certain part of their income at a certain time, but make no definite plan for it.

As a result they very often have little or no accumulated savings in the event of emergencies, death or old age.

Ambitions are never realized by promises. However they can be accomplished through planned, definite, action. There is no better way for you to establish a savings account than through life insurance, there is no better time to start a savings plan than now

My company has a savings plan that will be the answer to your savings problem—a plan that has been and will continue to be the best answer to man's financial problem. See me as soon as possible—Adv.

Still the Greatest Story

TODAY we conclude our presentation of the beautiful drawings with which Hal Foster, the noted New York artist, has told the Christmas story.

In six days the drawings have covered the long span between the promises of the prophet and the coming of the Messiah.

Each day Mr. Foster's dramatizations were framed, so to speak, by the news of our times—China's torture, uneasiness in Berlin, an absorbing mid-ocean rescue, other events of accident and violence.

All of these things, ordinarily, have a degree of importance. But the compelling power of the Christmas story, as seen through Mr. Foster's pen, seemed to shrink its surroundings into insignificance.

Looking at any day's issue, the eye—and the mind—were caught by the sturdy figure of Joseph, or the blessed countenance of Mary, and held there, oblivious for the moment to the blur of the surrounding news.

We hope this impression has been general. It illustrates, as well as any way we know, the abiding comfort of such a deathless staff as the Bible; the flimsiness of things to which we are prone to give excessive importance.

As we said last Monday, we are proud indeed to have had the opportunity of presenting the Christmas story in a manner approximating its true stature.

Three Years To Go

GEN. LUCIUS D. CLAY, U.S. commander in Germany, has given Americans another good reason to demand maximum efficiency in the spending of their tax money for military purposes. It will be at least three years, he believes, before U.S. spending in Germany can be stopped.

"The price of world leadership is very expensive," Gen. Clay told an interviewer in Berlin. But no nation which has failed to pay the price of such leadership has survived."

Certainly the United States cannot be accused of false economy in this respect. It has spent money prodigally and will continue to spend it that way. But the question is whether the mere spending of money will produce world leadership. Money must be spent efficiently. Waste must be eliminated. The credo which sometimes has seemed to be the rule in government, that the United States can afford to spend a billion dollars to get half a billion dollars' worth of results must be challenged.

The Soviet Union, it must be remembered, is spending next to nothing. Its cold war is being fought with the tactics of psychology. One of the aims of its phychological warfare is to goad the United States into spending more than its domestic economy can afford—to ruin this country with a time bomb of inflation.

Blind Alley

EDGAR BERGEN, like Fred Allen, will sit back and watch the radio entertainment industry until he can decide which way it's going. Both say they will take a sabbatical year—and even if they don't mean it a great many people are sympathetic.

Among the sympathizers are movie-makers, also groping in a blind alley. In fact, the blind alley is crowded with representatives of the entertainment business: proprietors of hot spots, owners of all but one or two big league baseball franchises, producers of legitimate plays, editors looking for best sellers to publish, football and basketball magnates, even the lowly pitchmen who draw a crowd with a glib spiel to sell sidewalk merchandise. They're all up against the same tough proposition: how to find something new.

The public has seen and heard everything. The old act was the best of its kind, but it's the same old act. There has been a war, then a peace that wasn't much better. People are restless. The same old stuff stands for SOS in show business. Bergen and Allen, if they honestly intend to get off the treadmill and look for something new, should get together and organize a commission for the rescue of overworked gags, plots, situations, subjects and setups.

The Best Internal Security

TWO stories in the daily flow of news suggest that Russia's isolation, an internal security measure, may be instead the ultimate downfall of the Communist party's police state.

One story deals with reports of drastic orders to prevent Russian army deserters from reaching non-Communist countries in western Europe. It is evident that the Kremlin still is grappling with the problem created by Russian soldiers who saw first-hand what it was like to live outside their own country.

The other story concerns remarks by Associate Justice Robert H. Jackson of the U.S. supreme court about Russia's "iron curtain." "Ultimately it will be more disastrous to those it shuts in than to us whom it shuts out," he declared. "If they want to handicap themselves by closing the Soviet Union's eyes and ears to the actions and thoughts of the western world, I do not think it strengthens them against us."

Truman's "Red Herring"

By David Lawrence

Hard To Sustain President's Charge Now

WASHINGTON

PRESIDENT Truman allowed himself to be cornered on the "red herring" question at his press conference. He had fenced with the correspondents on their queries about the latest developments in the spy case and had answered satisfactorily all the points raised until someone taunted him with the inquiry as to whether he still felt that the whole thing was a "red herring."

Mr Truman, with characteristic tenacity, said, of course, that the members of the house un-American activities committee were just seeking headlines and that he still felt as he did during the campaign about the "red herring." He then went on to refer to the house un-American activities committee as a dead committee and implied that the new congress should abolish it.

Unfortunate impressions may be derived from these off-the-cuff answers to the queries from the press. They might be construed by some people here and abroad to mean that the President condones a loose system which permits so many documents from the state department files to come into the possession of unauthorized persons. It might also appear as if Mr. Truman is quite casual about the sensational disclosures and is attempting to minimize their significance.

• • •

THERE IS NO political campaign on now—nor any presidential election for four years. Just why the house un-American activities committee would be endeavoring to drag a "red herring" across the trail of current events to divert attention from anything is a little difficult to understand. Mr. Truman is right when he says that members of congress are headline hunters but he must be charitable in that respect, for when he was at the head of the Truman investigating committee he didn't object to the headlines he got. And, incidentally, the President made quite a number of headlines this week when he reiterated his "red herring" charge.

The clash between the department of justice and the house un-American activities committee is perhaps a natural one. The department looks at violations of the law from a technical angle. It cannot ask for indictments except for specific violations and can do nothing about events which are barred from prosecution because the criminal statutes require that cases must be filed within a certain number of years after crimes are committed.

The house un-American activities committee, on the other hand, looks at the public interest from a broad policy standpoint. Thus it investigates to learn whether any new legislation is needed or whether administrative officers are performing their duties efficiently and faithfully. It does not have to follow the complicated procedures of the courts.

• • •

THIS CHECK which the founding fathers provided, whereby congressional committees may look into the acts of executive agencies has been of immense value to the cause of honest government. It is something which executive agencies feel is a sort of nuisance—they frankly don't like it. But always the judges of whether the inquiries are justified are the American people.

Mr Truman apparently wants the house un-American activities committee to be discontinued. But this is not a special committee—it is a standing committee now of the house of representatives. It has received a substantial majority each year on every issue that has arisen concerning its continuance. It has been in existence more years under Democratic than Republican control of congress. Nearly all the southern Democrats will vote with the Republicans to continue the crusade against communism. Mr. Truman is not likely to get his wish—if he really wants the committee abolished.

The committee could stand a good deal of improvement as to methods and techniques of presenting evidence to the public. Undoubtedly innocent persons have been hurt by the loose procedures. Public opinion has manifested itself on this point, and the corrective influence is already at work.

Mr. Truman, on the other hand, cannot afford to make an issue of the work of the house un-American activities committee and try to squelch such a legislative inquiry. It may seriously be doubted whether his chance remark was meant to be taken seriously.

• • •

FOR MR. TRUMAN cannot afford to lose the approval of the people. Nothing would contribute so rapidly to the deterioration of the next Truman administration as his loss of control of congress or a loss of the confidence of a majority. Once congress gets the idea that public support has left Mr. Truman, it will be hard sledding for his measures. It is regrettable, therefore, that the President became enmeshed in the "red herring" question once more and that he didn't turn it aside and merely declare that he, like all other citizens, would await the disclosures by congressional committees and the courts before passing judgment on what is obviously a rather entangled spy story.

Atom Experts Speak

By Frank Tripp

THERE came in the mail a communication which has caused me to lose some sleep. Risking like effect upon you, I'm passing its disturbing content along to those who have been lulled into forgetfulness that a terrible man-made threat hangs over the world, waiting to destroy civilization.

About that same time a general added to the comfort of the nation by saying, in effect, that fear of the atomic bomb is unwarranted; that enemies do not have it, or would not dare to use it.

That is the sort of thing the people like to hear. It lets them pursue their play, politics, selfishness, strikes, lets them dance and fiddle on happily—while Rome burns.

Yet when one gets a letter from Albert Einstein that says differently, he wonders. He wonders what may come of all the plans he has made for the future of his children; what kind of a world they'll live in, if they live at all.

• • •

ALBERT EINSTEIN, as chairman of the Emergency Committee of Atomic Scientists, Princeton, N. J., says:

"These few facts are accepted by all atomic scientists:

"1—Atomic bombs can now be made cheaply and in large number. They will become more destructive.

"2—There is no military defense against atomic bombs, and none is to be expected.

"3—Other nations can rediscover our secret processes by themselves.

"4—Preparedness against atomic war is futile, if attempted, will ruin the structure of our social order.

"5—If war breaks out, atomic bombs will be used, and they will surely destroy our civilization.

"6—There is no solution to this problem except international control of atomic energy and the elimination of war."

Consider thoughtfully these appalling statements from such a responsible source. Read them again, conscious that the letter head bears these names of Einstein's associates:

Vice chairman, Harold C. Urey, discoverer of the hydrogen atom of atomic weight two, researcher for production of heavy water and U235 for the atomic bomb; plus these equally eminent scientists:

Reuben G. Gustavson, University of Nebraska; T. R. Hogness, Leo Szilard, Joseph E. Mayer, University of Chicago; Philip M. Morse, Brookhaven National Laboratory; H. J. Muller, University of Indiana; Linun Pauling, California Institute of Technology; Frederick Seitz, Carnegie Institute of Technology.

• • •

IMPRESSIVE to me is that these men, who best understand the potentialities of the atomic bomb, are begging individuals for a fund with which to tell their fellow citizens of the world catastrophe which is imminent if ignorant man's course proves wrong.

Following the six facts given above appears this statement:

"The program of the Emergency Committee of Atomic Scientists is to see that these simple facts become known to the public. The committee does not propose to make governmental policy, either on the national or international level. Its purpose is to make available an understanding of the Atomic Era on which such policy must depend."

So what have we? We have government, upon which the people depend fumbling in world politics, involved and entangled in all manner of issues of picayune significance as compared with whether or not man shall survive.

The men who should best know what the world may face are pleading for a fund of a million dollars so they may tell the people about it. While billions are being spent for preparedness which these men say is "futile and, if attempted, will ruin the structure of our social order"—"will surely destroy our civilization."

• • •

SHOULD IT NOT be government's task, indeed its duty, to tell these things to the people—or to publicly refute the statements?

Instead, the treasury has ruled that contributions to the scientists' fund are tax exempt. What travesty!

You may deduct from your taxable income what it costs you to find out that your head is going to be blown off.

This gruesome fate we need not suffer. The scientists say: "Help us to ensure that this historic achievement of science, the discovery and development of atomic energy, will be used for the benefit of mankind and not for our destruction."

New Pandora's Box

From News of Other Years

TEN YEARS AGO

It was Sunday, Dec. 11, 1938.

A pro-Nazi victory in an election held at Memel, Lithuania, placed Lithuanian police, who had heretofore collaborated with Memel's autonomous force, in the ranks of civilians, and foreshadowed a return of the territory to Germany.

Who Owns Sea Floor?

COPENHAGEN — Who owns the bottom of the sea?

This question has been debated among experts on international law, but has now become more prominent than ever with the Belgium professors Piccard and Max Cosyns planning to descent 12,000 feet down through the ocean.

A world known Danish expert on international law, Dr. Juris Georg Cohn of the Danish foreign office, says the problem now needs a solution since the United States, Argentine, Mexico, Chile and this year also Iceland have proclaimed themselves owners of the bottom of the sea from their beaches to where the mainland under the water suddenly slopes down from about 600 feet under sea level to 3,000 feet or more.

It is now considered only a matter of time when minerals and coal may be found there. Russia for a long time has been pumping oil from the bottom of the Caspian Sea.

Steel Production Facts

By George E. Sokolsky

THE total steel output for 1948 is expected to be about 88,000,000 tons, by more than 3,100,000 tons larger than 1947. It is estimated that this output is greater by 40 per cent than the steel production of 1939.

The United States has added more than 14,000,000 tons of raw steel capacity and has increased its blast furnace capacity by about 19 per cent in 1948 over 1938. Altogether the increase of capacity has been phenomenal. Since the end of the war, programs for the improvement and expansion of this industry amount to $1,700,000,000, many of which have already been completed. These include the development of steel capacity in such states as California, Oregon, Utah and Washington, where, during the past 10 years, the figures are almost beyond belief: capacity increase, 272 per cent during the past 10 years. Their combined blast furnace capacity has increased 815 per cent.

• • •

STEEL IS ALSO being produced in Alabama, Georgia, Kentucky, where capacity has increased by 36 per cent. In Texas the increase is nearly 100 per cent.

We usually think of steel being made in Pennsylvania, Ohio and Illinois. These figures indicate a wide decentralization, with plants spreading to many parts of the country. Some of these plants are, of course, products of war acceleration. But what needs to be pointed out is that the industry itself has expended $1,700,000,000 on its expansion and improvement program, which is moving forward. Much, if not most, of this money has come out of so-called profits.

I say, "so-called profits," because the question arises whether replacement, repair, expansion and improvement are not ordinary business costs, a capital investment, which should be withdrawn from any accumulation of profits and on which taxes should not be subject have generally been detrimental to the development of enterprise. The treasury is out to raise as much money as it can and perhaps needs; it is not always guided by the soundest economic procedures.

• • •

FOR INSTANCE, the railroads were penalized during the war by being required to expend within the year reserves they set up for the rebuilding, rehabilitation and repair of their services. During the profitable war years, they were unable to expend such reserves because the materials were not obtainable. When the materials became more readily obtainable, the funds had been taxed away and the earnings were poorer. In some instances, the earnings were way down. It is this confusion over the definition of the term "profits" that makes for a retardation of industrial growth.

At any rate, American industry has, as is evidenced by these steel facts, been able and willing to pour profits back into its growth and development.

The President makes the point that industry is unjustified in its current fears. Those fears are a direct product of his campaign speeches, which while they got him votes on election day, also encouraged the assumption that he will load on to the backs of industry a tax burden which is bound to arrest this program of improvement and expansion. If the available money is to go into taxes, it will not go into building, development, growth, expansion. Either part of the so-called profits goes into these beneficial activities or it goes into taxes. There is not enough to go into both places should the tax rates be severely increased.

• • •

THE SOCIALISTS do not care anything about this argument. They would, in fact, prefer to increase taxes and thereby force industry into a profitless existence, so that it becomes dependent upon government. Their hope is that industry will eventually be nationalized altogether, if not directly, then by indebtedness to government lending agencies. Industry naturally fears, and the private investor expresses that fear, that the load of additional taxes, indicated in the President's campaign speeches, gives more comfort to the Socialist than encouragement to private industry.

It is interesting that in 1947 the world production of steel was estimated at 150,000,000 tons, of which the United States provided about 55 per cent. In that year, it was estimated that Soviet Russia produced 22,600,000 tons. For 1948, England ought to produce more than 13,000,000 tons. We are still far ahead of the world because of the efforts of private industry and private investment.

Retrievers

By Truman Twill

As was pointed out here a few days ago, the revival of the strenuous indoor game variously called table tennis and ping-pong is putting a strain on middle-agers and oldsters trying to compete with nimble-headed, limber-muscled youngsters wielding paddles for the first time.

Not the least source of strain is retrieving what comes to be known by antiquarians as "that blasted ball," a bantam-sized pellet with incredible elusiveness built into it. Since it is commonly used by ordinary ping-pongers in makeshift quarters, the task of fishing it out from under furniture is more onerous than the business of slapping it back at one's opponent. That's where a good dog comes in handy.

The Twillery is equipped with not one but two dogs, both retrievers by instinct. Hitherto, this natural talent has manifested itself only in such forms as lie within the province of all house dogs—cigar butts, girdles left within reaching distance, shoes, ice cubes spilled out of beverage glasses, and objects of interest encountered during airings. But with ping-pong a new field of opportunity has been opened.

All that's needed is to take advantage of the fact a ping-pong ball bouncing on the floor has an irresistible attraction for a dog. Nine times out of ten, the dog will trap it in his mouth and hold it there.

This of course, stops the game. The dog must be wheedled into opening his fat face and releasing the ball, which is done with a wrecking bar jammed between his teeth and used as a pry. While this is going on, an aged player who is short of breath and rubber-legged with fatigue can recover his aplomb.

It's important to have a dog with what hunters call a soft mouth, since the ping-pong ball must not be bitten. Fortunately, this characteristic is present in both Twillery dogs, and consequently a new strain of canine aristocracy—the ping-pong ball retriever—is imminent.

This strain of specialists will take their place in canine aristocracy, along with the Golden Retriever, the Labrador Retriever and other specialized breeds highly valued by human beings who can stoop to conquer but can't stoop to pick up the conquest. In time it may even be possible to teach these beasts to carry as many as three ping-pong balls in their mouths simultaneously, to take care of the situation where an opponent intent on quick victory insists on introducing additional balls into the game and letting the lost ones take care of themselves.

It's a relief to know some useful occupation at last has been found for a couple of dependents in far greater need of exercise than the chump they are dependent on.

Pennsylvania Crude Oil Prices Slashed

By The Associated Press

BRADFORD, Pa., Dec. 11 — Two Pennsylvania oil companies slashed crude prices today. An oversupply was listed as the cause.

The Joseph Seep purchasing agency of the South Penn Oil Co. cut prices on Pennsylvania crude 50 cents a barrel.

The Valvoline Pipe Lines of Freedom, Pa. reduced the price of its Zanesville crude 30 cents a barrel. It will sell for $3.65 a barrel. Only a month ago the Zanesville price was cut from $4.49 to $3.95 a barrel.

South Penn's price of Pennsylvania grade crude in the Bradford-Allegany districts was cut from $5 to $4.50 a barrel. Cut from $4.79 to $4.29 was the same grade oil in southwestern Pennsylvania and Eureka pipelines, and Buckeye-Penna oil in the Buckeye pipelines.

Truman Sympathetic Says Mme. Chiang

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Dec. 11—Mme. Chiang Kai-shek now has had the conference she sought with President Truman and Secretary of State Marshall. But just what they accomplished for hard-pressed Nationalist China no one would say.

The Chinese first lady went to tea at Blair House—the temporary White House—late yesterday. Press Secretary Eben Ayers said afterward that in a 30-minute meeting in Mr. Truman's study she "stated her case and the President listened sympathetically."

As for the results, said Mme. Chiang, "the President is the one" to say.

In addition to the cash contributions, many tradesmen have offered to help in completing the home which Kettner was building himself.

TEACHERS, PUPILS MAY QUIT SCHOOL

By The Associated Press

AKRON, O., Dec. 11—The public school at Twinsburg headed into an early Christmas vacation today. There was no immediate prospect either teachers or pupils would show up for classes on Monday.

The village's board of education held a hastily summoned special meeting last night and turned down the resignations of the entire school faculty—principal Glen Powell, seven high school teachers and nine grade school teachers.

Then the board issued a statement declaring the school wouldn't re-open until the community "attitude" was right and until the board's authority was recognized. It said "the activity of a relatively small group has undermined our school system."

The resignations were submitted late yesterday accompanied by a statement that it was impossible "to conduct a school program with any reasonable degree of efficiency, due to outside interference for the major part of this semester."

Last month Twinsburg High school was the scene of a student strike aimed at the ouster of Powell. Leaders of the strike, claimed he was unsympathetic to athletics and other extra-curricular activities.

Powell was given a preliminary hearing before Justice of the Peace Paul M. Booher yesterday on an assault and battery charge, and after pleading innocent he was released under $100 bond. His case will be heard in common pleas court.

The charge was brought by John Hegedish, a mechanic for the state highway department, who claimed his 16-year-old son Ronald was pushed by the principal.

The accident occurred in the fog-shrouded Taunus mountains.

The hostess, Diana Day of San Francisco, escaped with slight injuries. The crash threw her clear of the plane.

MAN FINED SECOND TIME IN 3 DAYS

Pleads Guilty To Same Combination of Charges.

For a second time in three days Paul LeRoy Dickerson, 26, of 460 Osgood street was fined in municipal court today after pleading guilty to charges of intoxication, disorderly conduct, and resisting arrest. "In such cases, we send an attested statement that no birth certificate is on file, and the baptismal record then is accepted. Why isn't it apparent to them that the very fact that a baptismal record is sent indicates no birth certificate is available?"

Many applications filed by next-of-kin in March, the first month of bonus payments, still have not been answered with payments, Mr. Schwartz said. Only in a few cases where the veteran was killed after discharge have applications made in April or May been paid.

"Back in February, when the bonus setup was being established, officials insisted applications by next-of-kin must be accompanied by the official letter from the government notifying the survivors," he said. "At that time we pointed out that no such letter was sent when the serviceman died in the United States, and they seemed to agree that the death certificate was sufficient evidence.

"So we told survivors that only to have bonus officials notify them that the letter was necessary.

Two Marion Fires Cause $10 Damage

Two minor fires were reported today by Fire Chief Sifritt.

At 6:17 p. m. yesterday sparks from the chimney set fire to the roof of the Walter Stockwell residence at 944 Kenton avenue. The fire was extinguished by firemen from Central and West Center street fire stations. Damage was estimated by Chief Sifritt at $10.

At 10:33 a. m. today firemen from Central station were summoned to extinguish a blaze in the motor compartment of a truck owned by W. S. Ufer of Stryker, O., which was stopped in front of 344 South Main street. A defective oil filter had allowed oil to pour out over the top of the hot motor causing the blaze. No damage to the truck resulted, Chief Sifritt said.

PRISON BREAK BY TUNNEL THWARTED

By The Associated Press

WALLA WALLA, Wash., Dec. 11—Officers of Washington state prison guard convicts today to single out the men who attempted a prison break that failed in a tunnel just 15 feet short of freedom.

Two men were captured last night by guards who drove a tunnel of their own into prison courtyard, cut into the escape tunnel and found the convicts scrambling their way toward the outside.

Prison Supt. Tom Sullivan said he believed as many as eight may have worked on the tunnel in shifts during the last six days.

The convicts had driven 70 feet under the prison buildings and were working under the hospital next to the prison walls when captured.

A routine inspection brought the tunnel to light. Guards barricaded the entrance and alarms were sounded.

The prison's 1,560 inmates were locked up and available guards were called and the prison bristled with sub-machine guns.

A cordon was thrown around the penitentiary.

Meanwhile guards crawled part way into the tunnel and called for the two men to come out. The two —one a life-termer—ignored the calls and kept on digging. Their scraping could be heard from the courtyard above.

When guards drove their own tunnel three feet down in the courtyard and then three feet under the hospital to effect the capture the men offered no resistance.

Smith said they told him they planned to be outside the prison tonight.

cation will be given a final review before it is rejected."

Kirby went on to say that the law specifies that in the case of applicants who were minors at the time of their entry into service their residence, in general, will be considered to be the residence of their parents.

But, he quoted from the official ruling that ends: "* * * unless facts in a particular case require a different determination."

Throughout his discussion of the various points raised by Wheeler, Assistant Director Kirby emphasized that each case is considered individualy.

Goble States Policy

General Chester W. Goble, director of the Ohio bonus, observed:

"We will not defend ourselves in individual cases unless we have all the facts of that case."

Wheeler also complained of repeated requests for information on the same application.

"It looked to us as if bonus workers processed an application until they found a dubious item, then requested the necessary proof without looking at any more items," Wheeler said.

"There have been cases where a single applicant has had to send four different statements at four different, widely spaced times before payment was approved."

Kirby said it is regular procedure to collect different requests for information in addition to that given before making the request.

"There have been times when we have had to return to the applicant more than once," he said.

Wheeler said many applications filed by next-of-kin last March, the first month of bonus payments still have not been answered with payments.

Reports on Progress

Kirby said the bonus commission received 21,000 applications for bonuses from next-of-kin of dead veterans. Of that total, 8,830 checks covering 6,167 dead veterans have been sent out.

"At the same time," said Kirby, "we received 714,500 claims from living veterans of which 602,946 checks have been paid. It is possible that we at first concentrated more on living veterans than on dead veterans claims."

In the lengthy list of complaints made by Wheeler in a newspaper interview, was one that read:

"Back in February when the bonus setup was being established, officials insisted applications by next-of-kin must be accompanied by the official letter from the government notifying the survivors," he said.

"At that time, we pointed out that no such letter was sent when the serviceman died in the United States, and they seemed to agree that the death certificate was sufficient evidence.

"So we told survivors that only to have bonus officials notify them that the letter was necessary.

"Such episodes have put us in a bad light. Applicants think we don't know what we're doing. In many cases, they're right — the state officials change their minds so many times we can't keep up."

To which Kirby answered: "We have been complimented on the simplicity of our program and the speed with which we are making payments. They top any other state that has passed the bonus."

RUSS CRACK DOWN ON LABOR GROUPS

By The United Press

BERLIN, Dec. 11 — Russia cracked down on restless labor elements in the Soviet zone of Germany today by abolishing factory workers councils formed under allied control council law.

Functions of the workers councils were transferred to Communist controlled labor unions which cut off the last legal means of German workers to express their opposition of Soviet policies.

The move was announced by the Soviet army newspaper Tagliche Rundschau which said it was made to assure success of the two-year plan in the Soviet zone.

The paper admitted that German workers had protested plans to abolish the councils on grounds that they were formed under an allied control council law.

This plea was rejected by the Russians on grounds the law merely "permitted" the formation of councils and did not order their establishment.

Rundschau asserted abolition of the councils would eliminate anti-Communist opposition in factories and overcome a "disastrous split" among trade unions.

Investigators said Mrs. Zwayer underwent a voluntary lie detector test yesterday. Results were not immediately available. Mrs. Zwayer took a lie detector test soon after Grube's death.

GIVE EVIDENCE TO JURY, SAYS DUNIFON

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, Dec. 11 — State Liquor Director Dale Dunifon yesterday told two Circleville attorneys to give any evidence they had of a alleged shakedown of five Circleville clubs to the Pickaway county prosecutor and grand jury.

The attorneys had offered to give Dunifon what they said was evidence in the case.

Dunifon said:

"If they have evidence to be considered it should be given to the grand jury. We are interested in finding out if anyone did commit a crime and our records are available to the grand jury. I see no reason for the gentlemen coming to Columbus. They have an elected official (prosecutor) who can act."

The attorneys, Joseph Adkins and Emmit Crist, represent Circleville Police Chief William McGrady, who was charged by liquor department agents with refusing to give them assistance in a raid on a Circleville club.

The Circleville council has ordered an investigation of reports that a stranger asked four local clubs for $1,800 for "protection."

UN ASSEMBLY WINDS UP SESSION TONIGHT

By The Associated Press

PARIS, Dec. 11—The United Nations general assembly winds up tonight a 12-week session in which it has called on peoples of the world to live in peace, but offered little to enforce peace.

The assembly cooled diplomatic fevers over three of the world's trouble spots, Palestine, Berlin and Greece. But it found no real cure.

It urged nations to live without wars, without fears of atomic disaster and huge armies, but gave no final clue on how these things could be achieved.

The assembly passed last night, over bitter Russian opposition, a world declaration of human rights proclaiming freedom and equality for all. The declaration has only moral authority, at least until the next regular assembly in September 1949. To give it teeth, a human rights convenant is proposed. This convenant, to be drafted before the September meeting would oblige nations which sign the declaration to respect individual rights under pain of sanctions.

The vote on the declaration was 48 to 0. Russia and her five satellites abstained from voting. They were joined by South Africa and Saudi Arabia. Honduras and Yemen were recorded as absent.

Soviet spokesman Andrei Y. Vishinsky, accused the United States, Britain and France during the debate of paving the way for World War II.
